

ERIC is the core index to education research, with citations and abstracts of journal articles, books, research reports, conference papers, technical reports, policy papers, and other education-related materials. Covers: 1966-present.

Getting Started

Type your keywords (the words that best describe your topic) into the search boxes. You may use single words (computers) or phrases ("learning styles"). Enclose phrases in quotation marks.

Truncation: Use the asterisk (*) near the end of a word when you want to search for all words starting with the same root: adolescen will find adolescent, adolescents, and adolescence.

Synonyms: In the top search box, type the synonyms for your keyword, separate them with the word or, and surround them with parentheses. In the 2nd and 3rd rows of boxes, type a keyword into the first box of each row, and then type its synonym into the box next to it. Notice that the boxes in these rows are already separated by the word or, and are enclosed in parentheses.

Choose which parts of the article description you want to search

Limits

- Peer reviewed: Select this option to limit your results to research that has been evaluated by people in the same field in order to maintain quality.
- Scholarly journals: Select this option to limit your results to articles that have been written for a scholarly audience, but which may not be peer reviewed.
- Date range: To limit your search results to a particular period of time, click on the drop-down arrow to choose from a number of options.

Viewing Search Results

Your results are automatically displayed with the newest publications first.

The screenshot shows a search results interface. At the top, a toolbar contains options: 'selected items', 'Save to My Research', 'Print', 'Cite', 'Export', and 'Save as file'. A callout box labeled 'Scholarly journal article' points to a document icon next to the first result. Another callout, 'View a summary of the article', points to a 'Preview' icon. A third callout, 'Reference (or citation)', points to the article title and author information. A fourth callout, '360 Link to Full Text -- click here to see options for getting the full text of this article', points to a '360 Link to Full Text' icon. A fifth callout, 'More ways to focus your search', points to a 'Narrow results by' sidebar with categories like 'Source type', 'Scholarly Journals (1055)', 'Reports (11)', 'Conference Papers & Proceedings (1)', and 'More options...'. The article title is 'Can Social Support Protect Bullied Adolescents from Adverse Outcomes? A Prospective Study on the Effects of Bullying on the Educational Achievement and Mental Health of Adolescents at Secondary Schools in East London' by Rotheron, Catherine; Head, Jenny; Klineberg, Emily; Stansfeld, Stephen. The abstract snippet reads: '...multiethnic sample of adolescents attending East London ...adolescents were less likely to achieve the appropriate academic achievement ...to protect bullied adolescents from poor academic'.

Using the Results Toolbar

The toolbar at the top of the results page provides options for saving information about specific articles you select from your search results.

The screenshot shows the toolbar area of the search results page. A callout box on the left says 'Click to select this reference for e-mailing, printing, citing, exporting into EndNote, etc.' and points to a checkmark icon next to the first result. The toolbar itself contains icons for 'Save to My Research', 'Email', 'Print', 'Cite', and 'Export/Save'. A callout box labeled 'Options' has arrows pointing to each of these icons. Below the toolbar, the first result is shown with a checkmark in a box next to the number '1'. The article title is 'Social Correlates of Bullying in Adolescents With Attention-Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder' by Timmermanis, Victoria; Wiener, Judith. The journal is 'Canadian Journal of School Psychology 26. 4 (Dec 2011)'. A 'Preview' icon is also visible. To the right, a 'Sort results by:' dropdown menu is set to 'Publication date (most recent first)'.

Using 360 Link to Full Text

Clicking on the 360 Link to Full Text button will show you options for locating the full text of an article. If an online copy is available, either the full article will display, or, depending on the provider of the full text, an intermediary screen that provides a link to the full text will display. When the latter is the case, as in the example below, look on the screen for links that say PDF, Full-text PDF, Full Text, or HTML.

WSU Interlibrary Loan

If you need an article from a journal that is not available in the WSU Library, you may request that a copy be obtained for you through the Library's Interlibrary Loan service (called ILLIAD). This is a free service for WSU students and faculty. Submit your request by clicking on the link in the 360 Link to full text information screen.

If you've already set up an Interlibrary Loan account, just login with your MyWSU ID and Password. If this is your first time to make a request, you will need to take a minute to register for Interlibrary Loan. First, logon to ILLiad using your MyWSU ID and Password to get to the registration form. Fill out the form and create your account. Then, when you login to your account, the Interlibrary Loan request form will be filled out for you automatically! Requests usually take a week or less to fill. Journal articles requested through ILLIAD will typically be delivered to you electronically.

A screenshot of the "Interlibrary Loan" login page. The page title is "Interlibrary Loan" with a printer and email icon to the right. Below the title is a paragraph about ILLiad. An announcement states that starting August 14th, 2012, users must log in with their MyWSU ID and password. There is a "Login To ILLiad:" section with instructions to enter MyWSU ID and password. Below this are two input fields: "* MyWSU ID" and "* Password", both with arrows pointing to them from the left. A "Logon to ILLiad" button is below the fields. At the bottom, there is a link for "MyWSU Password Management".
