The Circulation Desk is the big counter just inside the main door. This is where you go to check out books and laptops and purchase blue books. Ask a staff member a question, such as how long can you check out a book, what equipment is available, or what items may be purchased here, and pick up a sticker.

C-Space has software and hardware to create and edit audio and video projects, computers with multiple operating systems and other technology. Ask the student assistant at the C-Space Desk to explain what they do and get a sticker.

The Reading Room is located next to the Popular Movie Collection and C-Space. This room includes two main collections, Leisure Reading and New Books. Borrow these books for up to four weeks. Pick up a sticker located on a table in the Reading Room or identify a book title in the box in the left column.

The One Button Studio in room 223 Ablah Library (second floor) has a simplified video recording setup usable without any previous video production experience. Seminar rooms are also in this hallway. Seminar rooms are equipped with overhead projectors and screens and are available as presentation practice rooms or for small group presentations. All room reservations are online. Pick up a sticker from the ledge under the room sign.

University Libraries has a Reference Desk scheduled with a professional librarian trained to help you from starting your research to finishing your bibliography. Ask the librarian to explain what they do and get a sticker.

The Help Desk is right next to the Reference Desk. It is staffed with a student employee who is trained to help with many technical issues. Ask the staff a question, such as how do you print or how do you connect to the wireless network and pick up a sticker.
